Set against a backdrop of rich stained glass and oak panelling, these bespoke architectural pendants feature heavy embellished metalwork finished in copper bronze, encasing opaque opal diffusing bowls. Based on an original period pendant design, this version incorporates a mini version of the pendant part way up the suspension rod. This fills the vast void and also offers additional illumination for this multi-functional college hall.

Eight 26W compact fluorescent lamps were used in each of the larger pendants and one 150W metal halide lamp in the smaller ones.
